

Announcing the European Aviation Conference 2021
Getting real about climate change and aviation: economics & policy for this decade
Offered online, December 1st and 2nd 2021

Following two successful webinars that reviewed relevant elements of climate science and policy (June) and discussed the OECD report on Decarbonising Air Transport (September), registration is now open for the 2021 European Aviation Conference at www.eac-conference.com.

Our conference sessions on December 1st and 2nd will investigate actions that can provide a credible path towards a sustainable aviation sector. Is there a way forward for the air transport industry which preserves the economic and social benefits generated while minimising its environmental impact?

Selected keynote speakers:

Silke Mooldjik
Climate Policy Analyst,
New Climate Institute

Sir Dieter Helm
Professor of Economic Policy,
Oxford University
Author of Net Zero

Brian Pearce
Former Chief Economist,
IATA

Conference sessions:

- Market-based instruments for climate change
- Technological options for now and the future
- Legislative options for reducing emissions
- Non-CO-2 impacts
- Industry perspectives and practical implementation
- A pathway to decarbonizing air transport

Partners and sponsors:

Following recent successful conferences, the format is for business managers, policymakers and researchers to discuss the critical issues facing the industry, exacerbated this year by the disastrous impact of a global pandemic. The EAC is exceptional in bringing together practitioners and researchers to address key aviation issues.

Please join us for EAC 2021 to benefit from expert opinion and debate from leading researchers, policymakers and industry practitioners and to contribute your own views and perspectives.
